

Math

Creating math content that is accessible presents unique challenges. Currently, MathML is the programming language that is used to write math equations that are accessible. Equations that is written without using MathML will not